ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Collaboration is the new buzzword of the 21st century, and a book like this is the absolute model of collaboration. From the authors to the editorial staff, the production team, and all the people who package the book, store it, ship it, and sell it. Each project has its challenges and its opportunities, and we can never say enough about how Sybex works to keep the crises at a minimum and, despite everything, still manages to get the book out on time. The staff is always good spirited, enthusiastic, and diligent.

We especially want to thank Bonnie Bills, our Acquisitions and Developmental Editor. Bonnie was patient, understanding, and persistent in the early stages of the project. Bonnie is always a pleasure to work with. This was one of our first projects with production editor Dennis Fitzgerald, and we hope it's not our last. Dennis knew when to push, when to back off, when to get anxious, and when to feel relieved. He handled the project with care and caring, and made it all move along through even the rough spots. Thanks, Dennis.

We also would like to thank our editor, Brianne Agatep, for her great suggestions and attention to detail. Without that careful attention, a book like this would be worthless. Brianne made the book more readable and more accurate. Special thanks to our tech editor, Karla Browning, a wonderful Excel trainer, for working the book through and offering technical suggestions to improve it.

This is one of many books where we've worked with Carl Montgomery to write the cover copy in such a way that it might perk readers' interest. Without his words, the book might languish on the shelves and we would all be a little poorer. Thanks, Carl, for helping this book and all the others find their way onto people's desktops and book shelves. We appreciate it.

Although we never interact with them directly, the book wouldn't exist without the hard work of the production team. Thanks to Robin Kibby, the Electronic Publishing Specialist, who took our manuscript and transformed it into the book you hold now. We'd also like to thank the proofreaders, Laurie O'Connell and Suzanne Stein. Many people's first look inside a book is at the index, and we had the fortune to have Nancy Guenther create the index for this book. We'd also like to thank Jeff Gammon, who worked on the Mastering Microsoft Excel 2002 page of the Sybex website.
